   2.1 Schooling is compulsory for children and young people aged from 6 – 17 years, unless an exemption from attendance or enrolment has been granted.

   2.3 Children and young people who regularly attend school and complete Year 12 or an equivalent qualification have better health outcomes, better employment outcomes, and higher incomes across their lives. It is important that children develop habits of regular attendance at an early age.

   2.4 School participation is important as it maximises life opportunities for children and young people by providing them with education and support networks.

   2.5 School helps people to develop important skills, knowledge and values which set them up for further learning and participation in their community.

   2.6 This policy provides the framework for a whole-school approach related to the engagement of students in their learning and school life. It is to be read in conjunction with:

2.7 We understand that sometimes special consideration may need to be given to students and their families from particular backgrounds or with particular living circumstances. In our setting we identify families whom we consider to be particularly vulnerable and we work in consultation with them, using specialised interventions.

2.8 The recent research in Student Attendance and Educational Outcomes: Every Day Counts suggests that where there is multiple disadvantage apparent, early intervention through SSG’s and ILPs plans are beneficial and are initiated at the time of enrolment, where appropriate.
