Welcome back to another exciting term at Coatesville. I hope that everyone had a restful and relaxing break. We were hoping that we would be able to begin the term with more relaxed COVID-19 settings and get parent helpers back in the school again. However, as you would be aware the COVID-19 situation in NSW is beginning to have an impact in Victoria, with seven local cases recorded today. As this situation unfolds, we will continue to operate with caution and remain on the settings in place last term which are as follows:

- No parents onsite at drop off.
- Only Prep and Grade 1 parents onsite at pick up if necessary, outdoors only, socially distanced, QR check in required but masks not required.
- No parent helpers.
- Visitors to the office must wear a mask and check in.
- Children are not to be sent to school if unwell and will be sent home if they present with symptoms.

We thank you for your cooperation and understanding and ask that you remain vigilant and cautious, with the virus once again circulating in Victoria. We are all hoping for a quick resolution to the situation in Victoria with no impact on schooling, but as always, we will keep you up to date if the situation changes.

We have a lot to look forward to this Term with Snowsports, Exhibition, House Athletics and National Science week to name just a few of the exciting things in the coming weeks.

Construction should be complete in the next few weeks.

How we teach reading at Coatesville Primary School

At Coatesville Primary School, we are deeply committed to delivering on the promise of education and equipping every child with the ability to read -- and read well! Learning to read is such an essential skill to not only find success in school and to thrive in society, but to also experience the joy that reading brings to life. We want every child to be successful in reading!

There is now an extensive body of research about how children learn to read, how to make sure every student learns to read, and what to do when a child encounters difficulty in learning to read. This research is called the 'Science of Reading'.

The Science of Reading

"The body of work referred to as the "Science of Reading" is not an ideology, a philosophy, a political agenda, a one size-fits-all approach, a program of instruction, nor a specific component of instruction. It is the emerging consensus from many related disciplines, based on literally thousands of studies, supported by hundreds of millions of research dollars, conducted across the world in many languages. These studies have revealed a great deal about how we learn to read, what goes wrong when students don't learn, and what kind of instruction is most likely to work the best for the most students." - Dr. Louisa Moats

The way we teach reading at Coatesville Primary School works for all students, not just those with a good memory for words. The research is telling us that while reading is more challenging for some students than others, with evidence-based reading instruction, nearly every child can become proficient by the end of 3rd grade. Decades of research have determined that reading occurs in a specific way in the brain in all people. It does not occur naturally the way that speech does. The process must be taught. It is a process of building neuro-pathways in the brain that link sounds of speech to written symbols or letters. The strings of letters are attached to meaning, and then those 'letter strings with meaning' are stored in the brain's "letterbox" for later retrieval that is instantaneous and effortless. This process is called orthographic mapping and it is our goal to help our students build a giant 'letterbox' of instantly retrievable words. That translates into fluent reading and subsequent comprehension. Guessing at words based on context does not aid in orthographic mapping, phonic decoding does.
